After a good many questions regarding the witness's relations with Mrs. Neame, Mr. Brooke asked him, arout the Slevin affair. This is the way Mr. Ell son told the story: He had returned from Seabright with Mrs. Henriques and Mrs. Neume, and the mother had suggested that as her house was closed the witness and Mrs. Neume go to the Brunswick for dinner.

suggested that as her house was closed the witness and Mrs. Neame go to the Brunswick for dinner.

"We did so." said the witness. "We had a bottle of claret and some apolitiaris. We left the Brunswick, and in walking toward a Fourth avenue car so t into a thick crowd of Christian Endeavoners—I think that's what they are called coming from Madison Square Garden. We were blockaded at one point, and I was trying to make at one point, and I was trying to make at one point, and I was trying to make at one point, and I was trying to make at one bollot and I was trying to make at one believe now. Struck her with his elbow. I knocked him down. I was arrested on the spot, but was allowed to send Mrs. Neame home in a cab. Third night Mr. Henriques came to the station bouse to see me. I believe at his daughter's request, and acted very nicely about getting ball. I secured ball in the morning and drove-directly to Mrs. Neame. The witness interrupted himsolf, paused a moment, and continued:

"Sne told me that he man had struck her.

The witness interruit fed himself, paused a moment, and continued:

"She told me that the man had struck her, and that she was black and blue on her chest. She said she would have no respect for me if I had not knocked the man down."

The witness was impatient to tell the facts about the court proceedings in the Slevin affair, but Mr. Ercoke interrupted him, and asked when and where the talk about the divorce had taken place.

The witness was impatient to tell the facts about the court proceedings in the Slevin affair, but Mr. Brooke interruted him, and asked when and where the talk about the divorce had taken place.

"Constantly," answered the witness, "At Narragansett Pler and everywhere Mrs. Neame was constantly after me to got a divorce for her. I told her that her father was the proper person to aid her; that J ought not to do anything for her, and, for that matter, had no money to aid her with." The witness paused, and smiling grimly under his heavy moustache, added: "I only aided her with a little good sdvice. Sie said her father wanted her to return to her husband; that her position in London was the proper caper. In July, 1802, at her request, I fook her to Mr. Hummel. She said she could not pay for a divorce. Her income "there the witness became very emphatic!" is exactly $200 a month; it is no more; that is ail, and she cannot touch the principal. That is all she has, exactly $200 a month. Mr. Hummel said he would get her a divorce out of friendship for me.

Mr. Brooke then asked the witness about his engagement to Mrs. Neame.

"We were engaged to he married," the witness said, "not publicly, for she was then another man's wife, but it was an engagement. It was not like an ordinary engagement with a young girl. She tried to get the Consulship for me through Dolos McChirdy, and explained to him that we were going to be married, and she told meso. I told her that marriage was impossible; that she had only $200 a month and was an extravagant woman and I had hothing. I was a speculator in Wall street, and of course sometimes made money, considerable money; but I told her that It was wrong for poor people to marry. She said: "I'd rather marry you than any man with a million dollars: but I told her poor people should not marry. At her request I went to Mr. McCurdy about that Consulship. That was on Feb. 21. He promised to look up the bine book and ton marry wo and with a million dollars: but I told her that I told her be up to m

Mr. Wellman interrupted: " Did you say she was begging?"
"I withdraw begging." answered the wit-Well, is it begging or not?" said Mr. Wellman. "Let it go at begging." said the witness. "Let it go at begging." said the witness, doggedly.

The witness said that he was sitting with the Hariques family and Mrs. Neame when Mr. Neame's answer in the divorce case was read, naming him as a co-respondent.
"I denied the charges made in the answer."

Q.—Mrs. Neame has testified that you threatened to testify against her in the divorce case. Is that so? A.—It is a damnably malicious its.
Q.—She has testified that you wanted her to perjure herself in the Sievin case. Is that so? A.—It is a damnably malicious its and the knows it. With all my faults I am not as had a that.

Ellison told the story of the assault, when Mr. Brooke finally led him to that point, quietly and effectively. He said that on the after roon of June 5 he left the Racquet Club some time after to clock, and walked through Forty-second street to Fark avenue, thence down to Thirty-ninth street, and turned toward Fifth avenue. He had no purpose in taking that route, and did not expect to see any one. He was on his way home.

I want an expianation of your conduct, of the way you have been branding me and talking about me. He said: "I don't want to talk to you. I said: "I mist upon an explanation." And I put my hand on his shoulder. Q.—Did you strike him? A.—No: I merely laid my hand on his shoulder. Then he pulled a platel from his pocket, and I jumped back three or four feet, probabity, and it one side. He deliberately fired a shot at me. Q.—Where was he siming at:

The witness had stood up, and when asked this question, put his hand on his right side, a little below the breast, indicating where he supposed the pistol had been pointed.

On your right side? "asked the Recorder. The witness said." Parlon me a moment." and turned around, with his back to the jury, and held out his hand as if pointing a pistol. Then he faced the jury again and said. "No, on this side? I should say." Indicating his left side. Then he continued:

I said, "Why arrest me." and the policemen said, "You were hearing him." I told them I would beat any one who tried to shoot me.

The witness said that he then walked rapidly away and later in the evening called upon his counsel. Mr. Brooke. The Becorder decilined to allow Mr. Brooke to get in evidence to the effect that the witness called to see about getting a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Henriques on a charge of assault.

He told how he was arrested on Fifth avenue while driving in a cab. He said that having read in an evening paper that a warrant was out for his arrest he was then going to give himself up.

Q.-Did you serve in the war! A.-Yes
Q.-When did you enlist? A.-In 1864 and served to

"I remember the dates," remarked Mr. Brooke.

"Were you there?" asked the Recorder, smiling in a friendly way at the lawyer. They sometimes have a harmless little pleasantry among themselves, these dignified gentlemen, during an evening session.

"Yes," answered Mr. Brooke: "I was there, and I did not have the pleasure of seeing your Honor for several years after that."

His Honor acknowledged this counter with a grim smile, and the examination proceeded.

The witness testified that he was badly wounded at Fort Greggs. And then Mr. Brooke brought the investigation away from war's grim visage and redstablished the proceedings on a polite basis by asking the witness a little about his club conduct. This was to give the witness an opportunity to deny that he had ever shown Mrs. Neame's letters in club circles, but the itsender considered the subject irrelevant, and the witness was turned over to the eagerly awaiting Mr. Wellman.

After the witness had informed the Assistant

The witness looked genuinely amazed at this bit of information and answered. "Then it was an assault."

Mr. Wellman went on with this style of examination for half an hour, referring to his memoranda for data of fights and assaults and quarrels, most of which the witness denied having been engaged in. Then Mr. Wellman had the witness testify that he weighed 200 pounds and was 5 feet 11 % inches tall.

"Is Hugh Slevin in court?" asked Mr. Wellman.

Ta Hugh Slevin in court?" asked Mr. Wellman.

Mr. Slevin, who is about 5 feet 5 inches and weighs about 130 pounds, stepped forward, and that ended that feature of Mr. Wellman's attack. Then he took up another big package of typewritten notes, which proved to be the record in the Neame divorce case. He used that to prove that the witness testified in the divorce case that there was no engagement of marriage between Mr. Ellison and Mrs. Neame. It was then that Ellison aid be would perjure himself to protect a woman, or, rather, that he had not said he would not perjure himself to protect a woman.

The witness admitted to Mr. Wellman that during the past two or three weeks he had been supported and clothed by the counsel for the defence, for whom he had been looking up vitnesses. Julius Brokaskey, who keeps a hotel in New Julius Brokaskey, who keeps a hotel in New Haven, was the next witness, and a very strong one for the defence. He testified that he saw Mr. Ellison place his hand on Mr. Henriques's shoulder, and that without being assaulted Mr. Henriques drew a pistol and fired at Mr. Ellison. Mr. Wellman tried long and hard, but did not succeed in shaking this testimony, but did succeed in abnoying the witness until he wept aloud by questions whose tendency was to make it appear that the witness and a bad record as a saloon keeper and club steward.

Dasiel T. Ames, a handwriting expert testified that the letters Mrs. Neame had admitted to be hers and those she had discovned were in the same handwriting. The Recorder decitined, however, to admit the discredited letters.

The case goes on Monday morning.

with this country. The first of these is based on the action of merchant vessels, flying the Stars and Stripes, furnishing provisions to the rebel floet. The other is best explained by the following cable message received by the Secretary of the Navy from Capt. Picking of the cruiser Charleston at Rio, and the answer sent by Mr. Herbert:

Boyton, a United States citizen, commanding a tue illegally floating British flag, arrested by British man-of war and delivered to me. Had torpedo on board. Shall I send him home?

Secretary Herbert replied: Hold Boyton until further orders.

The suggestion is made that the "Boyton," mentioned in these despatches is very probably Paul Boyton, the diving suit man, who has been mixed up in similar affairs before. Contrary to the general belief it is now stated that the State Department has been in almost uninterrupted telegraphic communication with Minister Thompson since his arrival in Rio Janeiro. Instructions have been sent him by Secretary Gresham several times and almost daily despatches have been received from the Minister informing the department of the course of events. A message from him was received last night and another today. Both of these gave information of the situation from a political standpoint, but contained nothing of the military and naval operations, and were in line with other messages received previously While State De-partment methods interfere with the obtaining of these telegrams for publication, it is learned that in one of them Mr. Thompson reported that merchant vessels were furnishing LoxDon, Sept. 29.—The Exchange Telegraph Company to-day received a despatch stating that the city of Desterro, capital of the island of Santa Catharina, surrendered to-day to the detachment of the rebel Brazilian fleet sent to operate against the place. The island is a short distance off the coast of the State of Santa Catharina, and Desterro will serve as a valuable base for Admiral Melio's forces in the conduct of inland operations. The port is an excellent one. The city contains an arsenal, which will now furnish arms and ammunition for the rebels.

Monteyedro, Sept. 20.—It is said here that President Peixoto of Brazil has under his command in Rio Janeiro 5,000 well-armed troops. It is thought that this force is sufficient to prevent landing parties from the rebel war ships, should an attempt of that kind be made.

Anti-Snappers to Control in the First Ulater District-Legislative Nominations. KINGSTON, Sept. 20.—The Democratic Convention for the First Ulster district was held here this afternoon. It was apparent at the outset that it was in the hands of the antisupports. Conspicuous among the delegates were several present and prospective Postmasters. Alderman Joseph A. Costello of this city was made Chairman and Counsellor Everett Fowler Secretary. On motion of Assessor David P. Hollihan of this city the Hon. William F. Russell of Saugerties, Surrogate James A. Betts, and Alderman Henry Beck of this city. were selected as delegates to the State Convention. Homer Russell, Editor John W. Searing of the Leader, who is a member of the New York Reform Club, and Alderman William F. Rafferty, were chosen alternates without op

Rafferty, were chosen alternates without opposition.

A resolution offered by Comptroller Fowler was unanimously adopted congratulating the House of Representatives on their prompt passage of the bill repealing the pernicious purchasing clause of the law commonly known as the Sherman Silver bill: approving the course of Senators Hill and Murphy for taking such a firm and decided stand for the immediate and unconditional repeal of that law; endorsing the administration of Gov. Flower and his associates in office for giving the State an honest, economical, and safe business administration, and particularly for the low tax rate that is assured for the coming year; commending Gov.

economical, and sate business administration, and particularly for the low tax rate that is assured for the coming year; commending Gov. Flower for his reappointment of the Hon. Charles H. Preston to the office of Superintendent of the Banking Department, and endorsing the wise, safe, and patriotic administration of President Cleveland.

Had a motion then been made to adjourn the Convention could have been set down as one of the most harmonious in the history of Uister county. But such was not to be the case. A resolution had been prepared and placed in the hands of ex-Sheriff Joseph H. Bisely of Shandaken to offer, which served as a firebrand. It was to the effect that the Convention to ask for the reappointment of Charles M. Preston as State Committeeman for this district. This brought Counsellor Fowler to his treet with a denunciation of the attempt to put a load upon the backs of the delegates and handleap them in looking after the interests of the district.

a load upon the backs of the delegates and handicap them in looking after the interests of the district.

Counsellor John F. Cloonan, who had been substituted to represent the Hill faction, said that it was a recognized fact that Mr. Preston had made the best committeeman the district ever had, and there was no question but that he had done good and efficient service for his party. Mr. Cloonan charged that owing to a clear, explicit, and distinct understanding that the delegates chosen to the State Convention should present the name of Mr. Preston for reappointment, all opposition to their election had been withdrawn.

Mr. Fowler denied that the gentlemen selected as delegates had made any pledges to secure their election.

A vote to table the resolution was then carried by 33 to 8. There is little doubt but that J. W. Hinckley of Poughkeepsie will succeed Mr. Preston on the committee.

THOSE TEN LITTLE MUGWUMPS. Several of Their Committee of One Hundred

It turns out that the ten little Mugwumps who recently met in Brooklyn and designated one hundred citizens, one-half of whom were labelled Democratic and one-half Republican. as a committee to bring about the nomination of an independent candidate for Mayor and upset all regular party machinery, selected the hundred without first consulting them in the matter. Several of them have already rethe matter. Several of them have already repudiated the action of the ten little Mugwumps and refuse to copperate in their neat scheme to stab the regular Democracy. Gen. A. C. Barnes, who was put on the Committee of One liundred, has sent a sharp note to the chief little Mugwump in which he deprecates the use of his name without his permission, and adds:

"As a rule conscientious and influential men can be most useful within the ranks of their party by availing themselves of its discipline for good ends. Therefore it is a bity to 'cry havoc and let loose the dogs of war' before war is declared, or any just and irremediable occasion for war appears."

is declared, or any just and irremediable occasion for war appears."

Charles A. Schieren has also repudiated the appointment. He said:

I am a Republican, and I believe we have timber in our own party from which to select a candidate for Mayor."

The Committee of One Hundred, or what will then be left of it, will hold its preliminary meeting at the Clarendon Hotel on Monday night, It will probably issue an address calling on all good citizens to rally in a grand Mugwump army for the overthrow of the Democratic hosts, and then appoint a sub-committee to bring in recruits.

Gov. McKinley on the Stump

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.-A monster meeting was held by Gov. McKinley in Newburgh, a suburb of this city, last night, which he adaddressed upon matters pertaining to the tariff. Nearly all the rolling mills and iron manin the try at the rolling mills and from man-uncturing concerns of the city are located in this suburb and the audience was composed almost entirely of men who labor for the pro-tected industries. He was repeatedly inter-rupted and cheered as he spoke of the matters at issue. Lieut.-Gov. Harris also spoke. There were about 2,000 lieuublicans from the city present at the meeting.

FOUND A BOMB FACTORY.

The Police Search in Barcelona for Aparchiste-Pallas's Trial Finished BARCELONA, Sept. 29.- The efforts of the police to find the hiding places of the Anarchists resulted to-day in a discovery of a bomb fac-tory. In some parts of the city where Anarchists were known to live a house-to-house search was made by the police that resulted in the discovery of incriminating documents. One of these papers revealed where a bomb factory was situated. The police, who wanted to capture the Anarchists at work, watched the place. The officers, giving up the hope that the Anarchists would return, made a search to-day of the premises. The place turned out to be a well-equipped chemical laborator;

the Anarchists would return, made a search to-day of the premises. The place turned out to be a well-equipped chemical laboratory, with crucibles, retorts, and paraphernalia for the manufacture of high explosives. Quantities of dangerous material were found in various parts of the house. Moulds for the casting of bombs and a lathe were discovered in an upper room. Piles of the inflammatory literature peculiar to Anarchists were found, as was also several fonts of type and a small printing press. The find will prove a severe blow to the Anarchists, as the articles seized represent a considerable money investment.

The Anarchist Pallas, who threw two hombs at Capt.-Gen. Martinez de Campos on last Saturday, was court-martialled to-day. He was brought into court with his hands tied behind his back, but the President of the court ordered that the ropes be cut, and gave him a seat near the President's table.

Pallas was apparently unconcerned for his fate, and diverted himself during the first proceedings by playing with the inistands before him. His appearance indicated a small amount of intellect. His head is small and covered with thick, coarse hair. His eyes are narrow but keen. He has long, white, lean hands, which show no trace of manual labor.

After the reading of the charge, Pallas declared loudly that he would commit the same crime a hundred times over if he had the opportunity. He had had no accomplice, and was alone in his responsibility for the deed. He was sorry that he had not killed Campos, whom he had hated ever since the Captain-General defeated the Republicans in 1874.

Pallas would not make any further statement. His insolent behavior, when questioned, caused the President to have him removed from the room. After most of the hearing was over, however, Pallas was brought back to hear the Prosecutor's address. When the Prosecutor demanded "in the name of outraged society and for the sake of civilization" that the prisoner be sentenced to be shot, Pallas shouted: "Agreed! There are thousands to conti

LONDON'S NEW LORD MAYOR.

Alderman Grorge Robert Tyler Chosen as Successor to Lord Mayor Kutil.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—To-day is Michaelmas Day, and in accordance with the usual custom the liverymen of the various guilds of the city of London assembled in the Guildhall to elect Lord Mayor in succession to Sir Stuart Knill, whose term of office will expire on Nov. D. The Lord Mayor, who was accompanied by the two Sheriffs of London-Aldermen Joseph Renals and Walter Henry Wilkin-and their under sheriffs and chaplains, and attended by the sword and mace bearers and City Marshal.

sheriffs and chaplains, and attended by the sword and mace bearers and City Marshal, went from the Mansion House, the Lord Mayor's official residence, preceded by trumpeters, to take part in the ceremony.

When the Lord Mayor and his party arrived at the Guidhall they were met by the Aldermen, the Recorder the Chamberlain, and the other high officers of the corporation, all of whom were attired in court dress and their robes of office. The civic dignitaries, conducted by the City Marshal, then walked in procession to the neighboring church of St. Lawrence, Jewry, where service was hald. At the conclusion of the service the party returned in procession to the Guildhall, and passed to the hustings in the great hall, which, according to ancient usage, was strewn with sweetherns.

The regular election proceedings then behall on pain of imprisonment.

The ilecorder then formally notified the liversmen of the occasion of their meeting, and said that in order that their choice might be free and unfettered the Lord Mayor and Aldermen would withdraw. The Common Sergeant informed the liverymen as to the Aldermen who had served in the office of Sheriff, a condition precedent to election to the Lord Mayor alty. Among the Aldermen so named was George Robert Trier, Alderman for Queenhithe, who, upon the return of the Lord Mayor to the hall, was declared by the Recorder to have been elected.

to the hall, was declared by the Recorder to have been elected.

The Lord Mayor elect then made a brief speech thanking the liverymen for the honor they had conferred upon him, and the proceedings were at an end.

This evening Lord Mayor Knill will give a dinner party at the Mansion House to the Lord Mayor elect.

THE ENGLISH COAL STRIKE.

Miners Decide Not to Conform with Owners LONDON, Sept. 29.—At a meeting of the English Miners' Federation in Chesterfield. Derbyshire, to-day Benjamin Pickard, M. P., for the Normanton Division of Yorkshire, who for many years worked in mines, presided. It was finally decided to refuse to meet the masters. A resolution was adopted declaring that the striking miners would be allowed to resume work at the old rate of wages wherever the chance offered. The men, however, will not be permitted to resume work unless all the men employed in a pit return, and each man contributes one shilling a day to the strike

The Federation pledged itself not to seek any advance in wages until the prices that ruled in 1801 should be again realized by the mine owners.

THE RUSSIANS AT TOULON.

A Disclaimer that Anything More Than In-ternational Courtesy Is Meant, VIENNA, Sept. 29.-M. de Giers, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, has informed the Governments of Austria-Hungary, Germany, and Italy that the visit of the Russian squadron to Toulon next month will be simply a response to the visit of the French fleet at Cronstadt. No other significance whatever, he says, should be attached to the incident, and Russia will decline to have any other character lont to the reception of the Russian officers in France.

The Russian fleet will arrive at Toulon on Oct. 18, and will leave on Oct. 28. The official programme of the reception has been published. It shows that the visit of the Russian officers will be a continuous festival.

Socialists Not Wanted in Austria's Army. VIENNA, Sept. 20.-The Arbeiter Zeitung, a labor organ, to-day prints a decree issued by Gen. Kriegshammer, Imperial Minister of War, embodying a decision recently made by a council of military officers degrading Lieut. Leutiner, an officer of the Ninety-third Re-serve Regiment to the ranks, and removing him to the Fifty-ninth Regiment, because he is a member of the Workingment Socialist Society. The council held that his being a member of the society cast dishonor upon his rank as au officer.

HAD NO TIME FOR RED TAPE. Why Blamarck's Physician Didn't Report

His Illness to the Emperor. KISSINGEN, Sept. 20.-In an interview to-day Dr. Schweninger, Prince Bismarck's physician, defended himself against an accusation made by the Cologne Gazette that he had neglected to report Prince Bismarck's condition to Emperor William. It is said that in making the accusation the paper was prompted by the Foreign

Dr. Schweninger said that the official wh was charged to inquire as to the Prince's condition used the form customary in addressing a military underling. Since the Doctor was answerable only to Prince Bismarck and his conscience, he resented the manner in which the inquiry was made. Moreover, he added, when he was in a condition of anxiety regarding the result of the Prince's libress he had neither the inclination nor the time to write a red-tape report.

The Zukunit, a periodical of Bismarckian tendencies edited by Maximilian Harden in Berlin, published to-day an article concerning Bismarck and the Emperor. The writer speaks of the "collapse of the hopes of a reconcillation," and closes his comments thus: The words exchanged by the Emperor and Prince Bismarck in their last official interview continue to indicate the relations between them. In that interview the Emperor said. You refuse, then, even if your master commands? Prince Bismarck replied: "My master's power ends at the threshold of my wife's drawing room." was charged to inquire as to the Prince's con-room.

Harden has had several interviews with Prince Bismarck in the last two years and is supposed to receive "Inspiration." It is not believed, however, that in this case he speaks with authority.

According to a Rhenish daily, Dr. Ernesti, who, in the absence of Dr. Lenthold, accompanied Emperor William to Guens, telegraphed to Dr. Schweninger, at the Emperor's command, a severe reproof for neglecting to keep the Emperor informed as to the seriousness of the Prince's illness.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA. Indications that Harmony in Business Re-lations Will be Restored.

BERLIN. Sept. 20.-Dr. Raffalovitch, one of the Russian commission sent to confer with representatives of the German Government as to the arrangement of a Russian-German commercial treaty, said this evening that, although bound not to reveal even the spirit of his inbound not to reveal even the spirit of his instructions, he could not deny Russia's willingness to have closer trade relations with the German empire. This willingness on Russia's part, he thought corresponded with a similar sentiment in Germany.

If the Russians should wish to place a lean in Germany. Dr. Haffalovitch added, the market protably would be found open to it. The French market, in his opinion, was not able to cover Russia's needs, As to the suggestion concerning the loan, James Galoschin, banker, said to the United Press correspondent: "Germany is able to take up a milliard of Russian four per cents, although of course she would not take them at par. The German bourses would welcome the renewal of the nollitical intimacy between German will be the statement of the nollitical intimacy between German will be sent the statement of the nollitical intimacy between German will be sent the statement of the nollitical intimacy between German will be sent the statement of the nollitical intimacy between German will be sent the statement of the nollitical intimacy between German will be sent the The German bourses would welcome the re-newal of the political intimacy between Ger-many and Russia, and this would assure to Europe a long term of peace, much to the benefit of trade and commerce."

AN INFERNAL MACHINE IN PRAGUE Much Hostility to the Austrian Imperial House in Bobemia,

PRAGUE, Sept. 29.-An infernal machine, with a lighted fuse attached, was found to night on the sill of a basement window in the Central ne sur of a basement window in the Central police office. Of the men who caused disturbances on the evening of the Emperor's birthday sixty-nine have been arrested. All will be tried for high treason. An officer in the reserves named Stepanek was arrested to day for having used insulting language about the Emperor. Many persons have been arrested outside of Prague for disfiguring the Imperial cost of arms.

Anarchists Fleeing from Vienna. VIENNA, Sept. 29.-The search for Anarchists in this city continues. To-day four workmen who are suspected by the police to be members who are suspected by the police to be members of an Anarchist society were arrested. Immediately after the discovery a few days ago of the Anarchist conspiracy many men who are known to be members of the erganization bastily left the city. The exodus has continued, the Anarchists dodging the police until they raised sufficient money among their friends to carry them out of danger.

"I suffered 8 years "From woman's early tra-bles. "I could find no permanent relief until, one year ago, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Relief then this time I am a well woman. "I absolutely know, not only by my own experience, but by others also, that this is a harmless and sure remedy for: -"Irregularity, suppressed or painful menstruations, weakness of the stomach, sick head ache, and female complaints generally. There is no need of so much female suffering. Here is the remedy. It is wicked not to accept the relief it will bring."— Mrs. J. A. Rice, Florence, Ky.
